Starry Night by Vincent van Gogh, 1889

Steps

1. Following the video, first make three to five yellow or orange dots on the top third of the paper. These can be spaced randomly, not all in a line.
2. Using yellow and orange crayons draw two or three rows of wavy lines around the "dots".
3. Then using the green crayon, add wavy lines on the bottom of the paper to make the green hills.

4. Next using green, blue and purple crayon add some wavy Cypress trees on the green grass.
5. Next color in the sky area around the yellow and orange dots with blue and purple wavy lines. Don't color in the entire sky just add wavy details.
6. Once you have finished with the crayon details then put a watercolor wash over the paper.
7. Using yellow watercolors paint over the yellow and orange crayon, then using blue watercolors paint over the grass and trees.
8. For extra details you can use a plastic fork and trace over the watercolor wash.
9. Remember to have fun, there are no mistakes in art!

Extensions

Feel free to make a second painting adding a detailed landscape to the foreground before adding the watercolor wash.
